JE,

Never had one of those quiet moments with JB, Nathan and Marvin again the whole weekend. SciFoo was fascinating. It was great to have Marvin and his daughter there. Marvin looks good. Sounds like Brockman has an interesting symposium on genetics coming up....

I found a few interesting guys who are studying music and the mind. One of them sent the email below. Another one is from Princeton -- a mathematician and musician (will get you more on him) and the third is UC Berkeley. This group, along with Oliver Sacks, and a few others could create an interesting symposium for you.

Can't wait to catch up! It's been too long. I've been percolating away with ideas....
