It is available in his yard at $60 per cubic yard. We would have to send a truck to be loaded and provide barge transport for said truck to LSJ. From Crum Bay to Red Hook, trucking costs would likely run about $12 per yard, I would guess. Eric will run the material through his crusher before selling it to us, so the lumps will be removed. He could be talked down a bit in price if we bought a lot, but $60 seems a fair price.

Good morning -

There is some still for sale. Eric Castro at Grade-All controls the material.

Bill

Can you find out if the Asphalt from the Airport job is still for sale, believe R & R construction own it.

Brice.
