i think you might postulate that=we are always dreaming. freud , during the industrial re=olution , thought man as machine, dreams came on =C2♦ like a switch when you fell asleep and off when you woke.♦=A0 . NO dreams are always on, ♦=A0 biologiy wants to stay on machines want to stay off.=C2♦ our conciousness BLOCKS the day dreaming♦=A0 unless you have mental issues, and then you cant tell whete= the voices in your head, are real or only dreams. =C2♦ schizophrenia has sleep issues, , ♦=A0 people dream while awake, thats why they seem crazy, =C2♦ everyone would seem crazy if others could see their drea=s.

I would make a point if i were you that you ASK =UESTIONS. , many of the answers are still un=nown , but you are trying to narrow the questions. . ♦=A0 scientists cant complain. ♦=A0 also the story of the bio reaction when one i= a child and very anzxious, and only hearing its mothers=C2♦ voice on the phone creates a remarkable shift in hormone=. etc. sound waves. nothing more. ♦=A0 .. blah blah blah.

wi=h all the work and money for the human dna, we still cant figure out=how a single cell divides. we are missing th= basic algorithm for life. . when you take out the nucle=s, so it has NO dna. and simply tickle the cell , =t still divides a couple of times. with no nucleus. ♦=A0 that is very odd

GOOD LUCK.
