The 3rd bidder, =konite, was too high.

The Prysmian bid was FOB Norway and the costs to get it to =iami will eat up any savings we see on the surface.

I =recommend going with Kerite Cable, 2/0 cable appears to be sufficient =or this project. This summary only lists the differences in the two =ids. The other portions of the designs are similar and acceptable. I =recommend that we get a cost from Kerite to Ship the Cables on a Barge =ith Reels and Rigging from Miami and also another cost to install the =able.

On the other matter, I have confirmed that smart metering =xists for LSJ and will be utilized for GSJ. I still owe you a review of =he account and will do that in short order.

Best,

HH
