My dear Jeffrey,

I want to speak to you about the process as despite starting with 16 follicles and very good blood work it has not gone well and I am shocked at [REDACTED]. At this point I don't even know if retrieval will happen. They want to trigger me in the next 2 days but I'm going to have to make a judgement call regarding whether it is worth it.

Just 2 things.

1. I can deal on my own and I know you have so much going on right now and I don't want any more stressors in your way. This is important to me. That you have some peace.
2. This information is highly confidential to me and I would love if it could stay between us. [REDACTED] and Karyna know parts but I trust them implicitly and I know they will honour my desire for privacy. I really do not want the other girls knowing any of it.

Would you like me to email you with the details and outcome or speak by phone?
