with your remarkable ability to raise an audience. how can you best benefit them and yourself. lectures ok. ?
week retreats ok, books ok. if you look at the new pokemon go ap. the first of many augmented reality games. I think an app for you that allows people to look at their phone and detect an aura about each other , would kill the market. after you return tonight look up the app and imagine . wow

Last part makes sense
But we need to know - What is fundamental reality
Whatever we end up calling it
There is no such thing as a thing
There is an activity in a unified wholeness - whatever that is Things are snapshots of perception (which we don't understand)

If there is an ontological primitive what is it Consciousness Or
Matter - an experience in consciousness
That's the fundamental question re fundamental reality

I will look up the video and I agree with every point you make
But we agree - I think- that scientism is misleading and can be dangerous.
Science cannot explain experience including the experience of doing science Science cannot explain consciousness
Science is an activity in consciousness
Theories are conceived in consciousness
Experiments are designed in consciousness
Observations are made in consciousness
Consciousness is the ontological primitive not matter
Matter is the experience of sensations and sense perceptions in consciousness .

It does not exist as such !

equation for it

Consciousness must be included in expanded science even though there is no

Yes sir! You said it when we first met Science is one language in consciousness
There are other languages consciousness uses - art music poetry love delight pleasure joy and of course suffering as well Consciousness is life
