Hi Russ ! Just a quick note to let you know that my lawyers tell me they had a very productive call with Cori and your outside tax lawyer today. From what I hear, they were able to alleviate some of her key concerns (by sharing with her that I have in fact filed my personal tax returns through 2014) and otherwise had a good discussion about alternative structures that everyone thought might be viable. I hope Cori reaches out to you with a similar message - I understand she told my counsel that she would think further through the various matters that were discussed and after talking with you and Nathan that she would be back to us. It would be great if we could get initial feedback early next week so I can give RFR a progress report. Thank you ! Have a great night !!! Jennie
