Jeffrey

i am sending this 'gmail' as slightly more private than Rutgers but we know there is no such thing as privacy on the internet, so i look forward to a long walk talking through some of this but can not resist writing you now i hope to see you shortly, we have much to discuss and better done in private i met with John Brockman on Monday quite by surprise—turns out he saw Wild Life and tweeted it to all his tweeties for which i was grateful, so we had lunch together—wife, son, himself seemed fine

=/div>

then the conversation turned to you two=things of interest

first i learned of restriction= imposed on you on re-entry in the state, restrictions that would cause me=not to visit the state secondly i learned of othe= social restrictions, i am sure painful to endure i will call you from Florida</=iv>
