I understand your concerns, but most of the earth work involved in this project is Fill and Rocks. The location of the dirt and rocks required for this work are down by the hogs back. I would advise we proceed with hauling material to MH while these sites are still accessible. Also disturbing the ground at the MH could limit our access if we get early rain or snow. Once we have enough material to proceed with grading we will hire a dozer.

Can we proceed with hauling material first, then grading?
