In the period between June 30, 2015-December 31 2016 I will probably spend most of the 1.3 million (1.5 or 6 including equipment donations) I've raised this year for current projects. Since I hire my team on contracts that run parallel to academic year (they are all partly employed by Harvard), the first thing I need to do is get them through to June 2017 with funding for the second half of the next academic year and projects for them to work on. That will mean replenishing funds at Harvard and beginning a second season of TV.

For the 18 month period beginning Jan 1 2016 and running through June 2018, I'd like to raise 2 million--which would allow me to hire more people complete more projects, expand my hardware

1.75-2 million is a pretty good estimate of those costs.
