Dear [REDACTED] thanks for your greeting, I have been trying hard to beat the jet lag the last two days while playing catch up with work. Hope your stay in Shg has thus far been fulfilling if not full of pleasant surprises. I would expect to arrive in Shg this upcoming Friday night, and possibly spend a couple of more days in Hangzhou. Understand that you are on an internship right now, care to share your schedule? So we would make up some plans together. Tentatively I would have a causal dinner gathering with Sun Yang(1,500 meter free style world swimming record holder) during my trip. I believe he is of your age group, and could be fun to hang out with. Otherwise, I can line up some local friends from Shg, and we can have a girls' night out(my God brother Ran can be on standby, he only recently completed his MBA study from Oxford, fortunate or unfortunately, David has had a couple of encounters with him before, and learned well as how Ran is capable of drinks, and therefore we are in safe hands :-))

Anyhow, let me know your thoughts, and I look forward to our catch up in person!

Best regards,

Ha Yan
