Chris now informing us that trees cannot be dug next week due to holidays. Silly that we are all just learning this now after making many arrangements to line up trucking, loading and barge completion. Barge was supposed to splash Monday but can use another day or two to finish work. Shall we keep barge in Puerto Rico until middle of April 2nd week or bring home ASAP. Please advise.

The electrical panels that need to be installed are the last thing. It's a time consuming exercise. It's at least an 8 hour project, perhaps more.

They are working on the propeller shafts install now.
Then it's propellers and rubber fender installation. New Doors are in.

Ok.

Unless told not to, I'm calling Bobby in 30 minutes to tell him to stand down on launching Monday and.. telling the marina crew to stand down.

Chris said no farms in PR are digging next week due to the big Holiday weekend in Puerto Rico. Farm digging will resume after the Holidays April 3rd.

Chris said our only bet is Tropical Shipping=if we want them sooner

The marina is I think.

zero it in. If the tree dig dates are firm and the delivery confirmed then I think Bobby can

I'm assuming. Bobby is the guy to ask.

favor of paying the invoice. Bella called about the payment. I advised her that it was my opinion you were in

Hey Rich,

I asked Chris if he will be in PR for the loading of the Palms on the Barge and he said no because Mary have surgery that week. I think we should send 2 of our guys that normally assist Chris when we're planting Palms

I would suggest sending Dupson & Dalce to assist with the loading on the barge and Karl since he's barge manager.

Chris won't be available

I think it's best we have at least 1 guy from our team present. if possible, since
