Nice talking to you—if only for 48 seconds!<=pan>

I do love your unending cost-free support. Have you noticed that I have a constitutional inability to ask for support? Since you always offer it, the problem does not arise—as in “How can I help?♦=9D God bless you for that.

I joke with my friends that your support is better than social security. Very similar in aggregate ($30,000/year) but your social security (1) suffers no taxes, (2) is paid up front at the beginning of the year and (3) is more secure in the long run. Who knows what political force will intervene to shrink US social security? What we do know is that your fortune will grow faster than that of the US so your system is intrinsically more secure than theirs.

Another thing I like about you—but do not understand, we have not had a talk on this yet—is that you are “polymorphically perverse” where your political associates are concerned. If we take you to reflect those with you, you are a radical socialist, as you sit with Fidel Castro, who asks your friend “How can I be of assistance?”. You are a radical Islamist as Ahmadinejad visits you in NYC after fulminating against Israel, Zionists and perhaps Jews as a category at the =N. (BTW I googled him and just learned that he was engineer and teacher of poor background, something you probably knew, so did you connect on this level?)=span>

I thought to myself “Yes we all like to see our money grow, fuck ideology”.

On reflection I do think I might have some way you might help my life and racial justice in this country at the same time but such a discussion can only begin, if it does at all, when Chairman is “behind” us.

all best.
