These days I made some res=arches about different programs , considering how much time and effort it =ill take , what kind of skills I will learn and etc... It took=a lot of time to consider because of my cowardice ... and It brought me to=the point that near 5-6 months I will devote my entire time to chinese/ bu=iness Chinese - currently I am searching for Intensive full day studying=C2◆ programs.

<=r>

After courses I will be tr=ing to find a job where I can use my communication skills + languages in t=e company which has business with China . Depending on my job progre=s I will consider an application for master program at university .=C2◆

What do you think ab=ut this plan?
