I think this looks really good, except you spelled Ms. Hensley's name wrong in the first sentence of the paragraph about her. Speaking of which, I didn't mention that in the most recent edited version I sent you, I had also cleaned up grammar, spelling, spacing and numbering issues, as well as changed every reference of "Buzzfeed" to "BuzzFeed" for accuracy and consistency. So this version that you just sent me has all those issues still in it.

Hang in there. A week ago, I was admittedly not optimistic that you would be able to salvage your career and reputation. But after seeing this version of the statement, I am optimistic. I think you make a very good case. It's going to be very difficult and require a lot of patience on your part. But I'm optimistic it's very possible. I think at some point you'll also want to consider a donation or scholarship for women in science, as that is generally recommended in public apologies and statements. You had said you were considering =uing, but my personal recommendation is that, instead of giving money =o lawyers to support your cause, to give that money to young women to =upport their cause, because I think that would benefit your cause far =ore, and benefit the world far more.

Thanks so much.. = have made a few changes.. to a few things that I remember

1. re Perimeter: The =oint was that this source WAS willing to go on record with false =nformation before I provided the counter evidence.. I changed =nbsp;was, to had been.. to make that clear.

2. I rewrote last sentence =n Center for Inquiry.. point is that the staff member involved was Adam =saak, boyfriend of Rebecca Watson, ringleader of the movement to impugn =eading male atheists.. and that is relevant. But I want to be =btuse because Rebecca and her crowd are very very vicious and I don =99t want to start too much of a fire there.. thoughts?

3. I reworked the Hensley stuff a =ittle.

Thanks for =urther thoughts. You are amazing.

I am pretty =epressed today.

Lawrence
