<=iv>Just landed in NY. Will call as soon as I can. We are going to hire a P= firm to help with the latest articles. I also need to hire a lawyer to ma=e sure everything I say is OK, but I'm sick of not saying anything. I&=39;ve written down a few thoughts on the plane: I'm sure it'= too much info, but here is first draft.

I vehemently deny any allegations that I so cal=ed "helped procure" prostitutes for JE. I used to be an executiv= assistant who scheduled appointments for Mr E.; some of these appointment= were for massages. I was never privy to what took place during those mass=ges. I never had anyone complain to me that something untoward was happeni=g, nor did I ever witnesses anything questionable take place. I had never =een any of these masseuses before until they arrived at the house of their=own accord; they certainly did not look underage to me. I knew nothing abo=t them. I never spoke to them other than to schedule massage appointments.=I'm sorry if these women now regret their actions and professions, but=I had nothing to do with it. I'm sure the allure of making millions of= their regrettable decisions is enticing, especially when their lawyers ar= willing to work for free to make a name for themselves. I have been unfai=ly victimized by these Jane Does, whom I don't even know who they are,=their lawyers, and by the media making up endless lies about me and making=up outrageous allegations all because I followed the advice of my lawyers =o plead the Fifth for every single question asked of me, even a que=tion as simple as "what is your name?" I plead the Fifth on, in = civil suit which I was subpoenaed for. I was a young woman whom all of a =sudden my name was caught up in something which I had no involvement with. = wanted nothing more than to answer all the questions asked of me by those=unscrupulous lawyers, but felt it was best to follow the advice of my own =awyers to plead the Fifth; what did I know about the legal system? So that=#39;s what I did and am still paying the price 9 years later. I'm tire= of allowing the media to abuse me to sell newspapers and not defending my=elf against it.

Tru=, I once worked for JE and lived in an apt on [REDACTED]. I started my interi=r design business in 2006 while also working for JE. Since I couldn't =fford a separate office at the time, I used my home address for my busines= address. I no longer live at that address, nor have I conducted business =rom that address for many years.

Yes, I cha=ged my last name because I wanted to distance myself from my family who di=owned me over not being the same religion as them. It was too painful for =e to use the same last name as parents and siblings who didn't want me=to be a part of their family anymore. If your family wasn't will=ng to speak to you over not wanting to be a Jehovah's Witness, would y=u want to keep the same last name as them?

Yes, I=was married once before to my first boyfriend when I was a 17 year old wom=n. My family's religion didn't allow me to date, so getting marrie= was the only way to have a normal relationship with a man. This lasted 4 =ears until he filed for divorce. Divorce is not allowed in the religion, t=us the elders "disfellowshipped" me from the congregation. My fa=ily stopped speaking to me, and all of my friends from childhood never spo=e to me again.

If the press can't even =et these simple facts correct, how can we believe anything else they are w=iting about?
