Thomas,

When we last met you talked about the desirability of a marina in Antigua. I told you that Antigua is a country that we are very familiar with in that my Eastern Cari=bean partner, Sir Charles Williams, owns and operates in Antigua, the asphalt pl=nt, the quarry, the cement block plant, and is the country's largest contractor.

Yesterday we were approached by those managing the assets of Alan Sanford, for the receiver,=20 ascertaining our interest in the 49 pieces of property that he owns on Anti=ua, which include 1,500 acres and two private islands, and I was told that he w=s planning a marina on one of his pieces of property. In a large receivership like this, it is often possible to buy wholesale the entire ownership, because it is complicated and probably looks like the inside of = goat's stomach -- has a little bit of everything there. We are there=ore pondering the merit of buying these assets wholesale and then selling them =ff retail, leaving a few choice pieces of development property with no basis.

If you have any interest in pursuing this with us, please let me know.

Jerry
