To accomplish the extraordinary, you must see= extraordinary people. — James Lee Byars

In this two day retreat w= hope to bring together the top minds (thinkers and doers) in the fields o= the physics of the universe both theoretical and experimental. We want to=ask and answer questions like "How much can we understand about the univ=rse, soon?" "What is the role of theory and of experiment in gettin= there?" "Are there things we may not understand?" and "How m=ch of what we think we know might be wrong?". The meeting fosters discussion=and we are convinced that when the best people talk the outcome is advance=and growth. We are hoping we can avoid standard prepared talks, and focus on exci=ing forefront issues, where there may be differences of opinion, or new re=ults that will provoke wide discussion. You will receive more inform=ation about the program and your own possible role in the near future. The =ummit is inspired by the onset of the Large Hadron Collider, the Planck mi=son, the recent results by satellite and ground based experiments on dark=matter searches, and the vast progress in theory. Also by meetings such as=the LHC Olympics, and the workshops of the past years at the MCTP, KITP an=Perimeter as well as interdisciplinary gatherings of the ASU Origins, the=Edge Master-Classes and Google's .
