OK, I'll get more info=mation. The real key to any successful garden is "a gardener", someone who is serious and passionate about gardening. I'll also talk to Peter with our Island Grounds staff to see if he has any expertise.=/p>

I've been in touch with Dr. Howard Resh but he's traveling until the end of October so is not able to give me much detail. From the information on his website, www.howardresh.com <<http://www.howardresh.com>> , his method is based on a hydroponic method which will require a greenhouse. Are you thinking that you would want a greenhouse on the island? If so, I was thinking that we could take a portion of the existing terraced garden and enclose it in a greenhouse.

Thoughts?
