i did not see [REDACTED] fun time in any of this, have you caught the seat=le disease.. a childrens story, , a fairy princess , lives in a d=ngeon , in a rainy dark environment, surrounded my unimaginable riches,=AO she flys so fast, with narrow eyes, , only stopping to refuel. th=t she never has the time to laugh.

Hi there [REDACTED]. I don ^=t really have any interesting projects like this going, I have always jus= wanted to. I've been making small stories only for my direct family a=d nothing beyond that!

I am just back from Uganda so my schedule is a little weird this week =ut perhaps a good thing for you to do might be to think about what your sc=edule looks like and how much you are willing to travel to try to do somet=ing like this. I understand that Jeffrey will be supporting you in this pr=cess, so perhaps talk to him too about what might be the right fit for you=

Traveling with me is probably not a good idea because I don't real=y have "down" time and usually blow through a city slum and gove=nment offices pretty quickly - however I do have great friends and associa=es in many cities around Africa and Asia. What I envision might be for you=to visit some of the world's most amazing places not as a tourist, but=as a learner. You might spend a few days wandering around and talking to r=ular people and asking them what stories they tell their children at nigh= and what legends have been passed on from their parents and grandparents.=/div>

In Africa, it is more about tribe than country. I would suggest that y=u spend time in Dar, Harare, Rabat-Sole, Durban, Kampala, Cape Town, and m=ybe even Lilongwe. You'd hit several of the major tribes in these plac=s and I know plenty of folks in these places that would take great care of=you. Some would likely even require you to stay in thier homes and be part=of their family. That beats a hotel any day! Asia is great too. You could =o 100 stories just in China. But I would say that Danang, Siem Reap, Rango=n, Mumbai, Kathmandu and maybe Delhi would offer some great tales.

It might be fun to do three "volumes" - Asia, Africa and Lat=n America. You could also get fancy and do Island stories too...those are =ome of the best! Fiji, Hawaii, Madagascar, New Zealand, Vanuatu, Sri Lanka= Maldives...all have these wild, wild stories about how their island is th= center of the universe....

So this is something that could consume your life! In order to see all=of these cities, you would want to plan well in advance. Weather (storms) =s usually the main thing I try to plan around. I like Africa in November-J=uary and south Asia in December. China is best in the spring. The islands=are always risky but usually have a solid dry season. To give you an examp=e of how to budget time and money, I would say that a 10 day trip to Afric= is about $15,000 if you stay at business (not super fancy) hotels and tra=el business class. A 10 day trip to Asia is probably a tiny bit less. You =ould need 5 days for each city (give yourself 2 for travel and 2-3 to ha=g out). Tourist visas generally take about 2 weeks to process unless you g= stand in line at the consulate, then it's more like 2 days. Each one =osts on avergae of $100 USD. I can make the contacts for your visits but y=u will have to feel empowered and brave on your own too!

Think about it a little bit and let me know...

Hi [REDACTED] =ont>

Great to hear of you= interesting projects, I'm grateful to Jeffrey for putting us in touch= Funny you mentioned the children's stories, as a few years back I =tarted a publishing venture for children with a similar vision. <=font>

I would love to talk=further with you about the idea and how we might partner on the project. =A0

How do you suggest w= best go about arranging a time to talk ~ when is convenient for you?</=pan> hi pumpkin sorry i am just=getting back to email. nice to be in kampala again.

Best ,=/div>

i can't get to paris on the way back bc i am attending this benefi= dinner (at the head table) for neurosurgery

i think i told you that [REDACTED] is the NF head of head trauma and =he NFL commissioner i going to seattle along with some of the players etc =nd there is a big event

[REDACTED] refusing to go but i am going alone i land saturday at nooi(ish)=and event at 7pm so i don't think i can stop in paris.

but thank you. i didn't know why you were asking on SMS. now i und=rstand.

as for [REDACTED] i know her? what's her skill set?

i have an interesting project that i would love to do that doesn't=take a rocket scientist perhaps she could be my partner on it?

basically i started collecting all of the different bedtime stories (m=stly creation myths, etc) from the countries i would visit.

i would then write them up as bedtime stories for my niece and nephew.=/div> they learned about geography and a little culture and the bedtime stor=es were so interesting and fun for them

i thought it would be fun to go around to 20 or 30 countries (cultures= and hear their big stories - the ones that usually get lost over generati=ns - and put those into bedtime stories.

it's a little silly but every single kid i have ever told them too=has been captivated.

i love the ugandan story of why the sun rises and the moon sets. the m=in god is forever chasing the man who stole his only daughter...for eterni=y!
