I feel that was a positive response.

Amy,

=br>Thank you for the update. There is no rush to remove the structures prior to our visit. It is my hope that we can find a resolution that addresses all unauthorized/non-compliant structures at the same time.

Subject: [EXTERNAL] Great St. James

Jonathan,

<=r>Erika Kellerhals (LSJ/GSJ representative) and I did site visits of both Little St. James and Great St. James yesterday, and it was brought to our attention that on Great St. James, two temporary barge landings were created=post hurricane by the staff to assist in the delivery of emergency and rel=ef supplies to the island. A significant number of the staff had their hom=s destroyed or rendered uninhabitable by the storms and they took refuge p=st-hurricane at GSJ. Massive amounts of supplies for these employees were =rought onto GSJ in the immediate aftermath of the storms.

<=r>

One is near the location of the proposed new dock across from Little=St. James and one is in Christmas Cove. Both are rock lined and rubb= filled and extend approximately 10'-15' off shore. We are =ware that these were not permitted. Despite repeated attempts, the staff w=re unable reach anyone at DPNR prior to construction. Mr. Epstein un=erstands that these will need to be removed but was concerned that if they=were removed prior to your arrival that it might be misconstrued that he w=s trying to hide what was done. Should we go head and start their re=oval or would you prefer to conduct the site visit so you can make recomme=dations of how it should be done?
