Sneaky,

=ust spoke to a few colleagues who is also pushing for a salary increase. T=ey said the final adjustments to salary and title changes will be made by =he end of the next week. So if I don't do it now then it won't happen... I am already pushing for title change but I don't kn=w how diplomatically and correctly approach the salary thing. I can't just say: "

Hi guys, I know I got a fun=ing of 100k for a year and getting paid less than a half of it?"</=iv>

Also couldn't get hold of Adam ( our Vi=e President) who deals with this stuff) and he is leaving tonight to meet =erje in Davos for the WEF... so I don't think I will have the chan=e to talk...

Would you be able to ask Terje I= they can rise my salary to 50-54k? The reason is because I think he doesn=E2◆◆t know half of the story and comparing my salary as equal or below=to ppl who works in external relations / event team. But I am External Rel=tions and Program assistant ( water diplomacy) and do research and writing=so in comparison to other program assistants who was also recently hired, = get paid the peanuts (while there is no struggle with my funding). The sa=ary for other program assistants is 50-55 [REDACTED] per year.

Does it makes sense to you?
