JE,

The good news: They let me come home yesterday, a day early after surgery I, the more dangerous of the two. I am told it was successful. They operated through my throat to get to the cervical spine area where the nerves to my arms are being damaged as they run through to my shoulders. Swallowing is awkward, my voice sounds weird, and I am basically resting.

The bad news: the surgeon, as planned, wants me back surgery II, going through the back to relieve spinal stenosis, and arthritis. Less problematic, but more painful.

In all, an unfun experience.

Cheers!

JB

p.s. Thanks for your thoughts. Will call when I feel better.
