Jeffrey,

I've been approached by David Price enquiring whether I was acting for you. As I believe that David regularly acts for the Daily Telegraph, I had assumed that he was intending to engage with us. I therefore confirmed that I was acting and received the attached email in response. I haven't enquired any further, but will leave you to liaise back with him as appropriate. In the meantime, I was minded to use this opportunity to ascertain whether he was in a position to discuss the Telegraph claim with me. Have you any objection to me doing this?

I would be minded to indicate to him that you are contemplating a complaint to the PCC based not only on the Telegraph's outrageous description of you but also on their failure to respond to our correspondence. This latter factor should entitle us to an extension of the normal 2 month time limit for making a complaint given that we have been in correspondence with the newspaper. Let me know what you think.

Finally, you had indicated that you did not want to incur any further fees without your prior approval. Can I take it that you are happy to pay for the work I have been and am currently undertaking on your behalf?

I look forward to hearing from you Jeffrey.

Kind regards,

Paul
