We're beach-bound this week at Jetsetter (okay, yes, we're beach-bound most weeks at Jetsetter). Start off in true celeb style with a stay at GoldenEye in Jamaica, where Ian Fleming wrote all the James Bond novels. Then choose from beach getaways in Hawaii, Miami, Mexico, Phuket, Costa Rica, Bali and the Virgin Islands, as well as high-end hotels in New York, Rome, Amsterdam, San Francisco, San Diego and more.

This hotel and resort on Jamaica's north coast might have you thinking about only shaken martinis and the latest spy gadget. But the appeal here goes beyond its James Bond roots (all 14 novels were written here). Recently transformed by a head-to-toe renovation, GoldenEye is a high-end retreat with a laid-back attitude, attracting the A-list with its magical location, beachy activities and laidback five-star service from a staff who feel like friends.

A prime East Side location with beautiful suites over 1,000 square feet - and they want you to bring your dog and kids. Loews Regency New York is a place where old and new Manhattan intersect. It's a Park Avenue landing pad for anyone who wants to take in a show, try the latest "it" restaurant or simply stroll through Central Park.

The completely redone Andaz West Hollywood feels modern and pleasingly intimate despite its location amid the action of the Sunset Strip. Fresh-faced Andaz "hosts" replace a traditional check-in desk - just one example of the hotel's laid-back vibe that makes it feel less like a 238-room hotel and more like a stylish friend's retreat overlooking the Hollywood Hills.

This for-members-only beachfront refuge dazzles with its unique vintage furnishings and attractive crowd of bonafide artists and eccentrics. Currently one of the city's most sought after hotels, no two rooms here are alike; each feels like a different showroom. The hopping pool and bar scene are a modern-day revival of old Hollywood glamour, but the perks - fresh truffle pizza, in-room bartender service, a Cowshed Spa - are the kind you won't be able to stop tweeting about.

Built into the cliffs off Shipwreck Beach on Kauai's southern side, Grand Hyatt Kauai Resort and Spa is an elegant Hawaiian resort that's known for top-notch family amenities. Just renovated to the tune of $ 45 million, the resort sports a 1920s-era plantation motif. The resort sprawls over five acres, enwrapping the gorgeous water for which Hawaii is best known. And it's got something for just about any traveler to Hawaii: six restaurants, six lounges, tennis courts, a highly coveted spa, a Robert Trent-designed golf course and an iconic water playground.

With some of the best views of the Colosseum - and standing right on the Ludus Magnus, the site of an ancient gladiator school - the 16-room Palazzo Manfredi winks at its aristocratic Roman background, but it's distinctly modern, from Italian designer Maria [REDACTED] Fimiani's opulent interiors to Giuseppe di Iorio's inventive Mediterranean restaurant, Aroma.

In the small Belgian city of Mechelen, the Martin's Patershof hotel is a classic European escape made for two. Housed in a former Franciscan church, the decor is sleek and modern in chocolate shades, although the neo-Gothic columns and stained glass windows are ornate reminders of the monastery's rich history. With only 79 rooms, this unique boutique hotel is an atmospheric destination for a romantic city break.

From its slopeside spot above Beaver Creek Village, the Pines Lodge surveys the surrounding Rockies like one of the ospreys that might glide past your balcony. High-tech but low-key, the 60-room property is bordered by White River National Forest and is minutes from Beaver Creek's restaurants and boutiques. The Pines helps guests get back to nature but not back to basics - it's pampering without pretension.

Sunriver Resort, located in Oregon's high desert country, is an upscale favorite of Pacific Northwest vacationers seeking a well-deserved escape from the grays of Portland and Seattle. While its accommodations have a warm, mountain lodge ambiance, each room offers considerable resort comforts. With a huge selection of organized activities, 300 days of sun per year and jaw-dropping scenery, Sunriver gives families, golfers, skiers, shoppers, river paddlers and bicyclists everything they need to relish Central Oregon's sunshine.

The newly opened Inn at Brunswick Station combines a classic New England façade with contemporary interiors and puts the best of Maine's southern mid-coast within minutes. Situated in downtown Brunswick, a classic New England college town, the inn is just steps from the main street's eclectic shops, coffee houses and restaurants. Within a half-hour's drive, you'll find the shopping Mecca of Freeport, the fishing village-studded Harpswell peninsulas and the historic seafaring and shipbuilding town of Bath.

More than two million tourists visit Costa Rica annually, but guests at Latitude 10 could be excused for thinking they have the country to themselves. Tucked away off a potholed dirt road outside the town of Santa Teresa, Latitude 10 is all about seclusion. The resort doesn't even have a sign marking its entrance and the five casitas are surrounded by jungle, so the only sounds of traffic come from monkeys swinging through the trees.

This private island, a 20-minute boat ride from Tortola in the British Virgin Islands, served as a backdrop for the 2011 Sports Illustrated swimsuit issue. But you won't find paparazzi here - or cars or screaming children, for that matter. The 1,800-acre resort features five private beaches, a yacht club and only 50 rooms that feel more like mini-villas. Romance is in the air here, as is a certain Caribbean ambience: toes in the sand, Carib beer in hand, all worries forgotten on the yacht ride over.

An urban escape known for relaxed service and a cool bar scene, Andaz San Diego is located in the heart of the Gaslamp Quarter and within walking distance of San Diego's trendiest galleries, boutiques and restaurants - as well as the convention center. Inside the historic brick building are 159 rooms that balance modern design (think glass and steel tables and creamy white sofas) with warmth and comfort. Skyline views, private cabanas, a sultry rooftop bar and a multilevel nightclub complete the picture.
