
From: Robert Trivers <[REDACTED]>
Sent: Friday, January 12, 2018 6:37 PM
To: Jeffrey Epstein
Subject: Brockman

Final Edge Question

i was going to try to write an answer when i read this absurdly worded Edge question—a testament to the unbridled egoism of John

For the 50th anniversary of "The World Question Center," ask a riveting question that makes a difference, a fascinating and thought-provoking question worthy of this lavish cerebral feast. Unleash an intellectual skyrocket of stunning brilliance that leads your fellow Edgies to a eureka moment at the edge of knowledge. Come up with a big, deep and ambitious question, breathtaking in scope, that is once is worthy of "the world's smartest website," and which year after year reminds us of how wondrous our world is.

Ask "The Last Question," your last question (and the final question of this 20-year Edge sorry i have trouble trying to "Unleash an intellectual skyrocket of stunning brilliance" !

</=>