Karen is wondering if you want the blackout curtains to cover the fireplace too, or if you are OK with it showing when the screen is up when all the other walls will be covered with the blackout curtains?

Also, since you are covering all the walls with black curtains, do you want to keep these shells in the room, or perhaps use them elsewhere? Karen pointed out the shells themselves could be put on different bases at different heights, etc. for different uses.

Same question for the wooden console table and chests. Do you want them to remain in the movie room or perhaps use them elsewhere?
