Want a peak inside one of New York's most exclusive members' clubs? Book a bedroom at Soho House and you'll have access to the star-studded bar (leave your camera at home: they're banned), restaurant, screening room and Cowshed spa. NYC's chic set hops the nonstop to the Europe to beautiful estates in Hungary and Spain. Make your way to Thailand and stay at the Banyan Tree Phuket, where the service is so spot-on it's like staying at a friend's estate (if only we had those kinds of friends).

Members-Only in Manhattan: Soho House

The prime location in New York City's Meatpacking District makes The Soho House one of, if not the most exclusive spot in the city. And in a town that's all about accessibility, the private members-only club makes having your very own pad, possible. Of course, this one happens to come with its own restaurant, Club Bar, 44-seater cinema and heated rooftop pool.

Casa Romana scores top marks for sense of place. In the center of Seville, within walking distance of the best tapas bars, the bullring, cathedral and Santa Cruz neighborhood, the hotel channels the diverse civilizations that have left their mark on the city: There are Roman columns at the entrance, Moorish tiles in the lobby and views of whitewashed buildings from the rooftop bar.

Overlooking the historic icon that Bostonians most admire (yes, Fenway), Hotel Commonwealth is a smart starting point for exploring the city. Easily accessible to Back Bay and Kenmore Square, the property is also near the Charles River and just across from Cambridge. With 148 spacious rooms and suites that blend a historic style and modern amenities, Hotel Commonwealth is pure Boston.

Historic Yet Edgy in Budapest

Once a public bath house, the Hotel Zara manages to feel at once historic and edgy. In an unassuming neighborhood where you're just as likely to see contemporary Hungarian design outlets as you are narrow alleys that lead to traditional artisan workshops, this 19th-century building has been elegantly restored - the stone facade still bears a carved sign that reads "Hungária Fürdő" - and stylishly updated. The Continental is Zara Hotel's second outpost in the city, and since opening in June 2010, it has been breathing new life into Budapest's hotel scene.

Budapest tends to keep most visitors to Hungary so busy that they never leave to explore the rest of the country. But there is plenty of reason to do so, especially if the Hertelendy, a restored stately manor house turned luxurious 14-room hotel, is your destination. Its sprawling landscaped grounds include tennis courts, a golf course, and opportunities for horseback riding and hunting. Its restaurant (one of the best in Hungary) and thermal spa also lure city-dwellers.

Stowe emerged not long ago from a $400 million redevelopment, anchored by the first luxury slopeside hotel in Vermont. The lodge has obvious benefits, such as immediate access to lifts that serve Mt. Mansfield, an entirely new pedestrian village, a farm-to-table gourmet restaurant and a state-of-the-art wellness center that's drawing visitors from around the world.

Welcome to Napa's own Ivy League. Tucked behind the crawling vines covering the buildings of Saint Helena's Main Street and the tracks of the Napa Wine train, the Inn at Southbridge makes an ideal base for exploring the valley and the historic hamlet that serves as its hub. Whether you're out for touring local vineyards, fine dining, spa treatments or all of the above, this inn at the epicenter of the Napa Valley affords access to it all in a setting worthy of that Pinot you picked up at your new favorite winery.

Just a short walk from the Arc de Triomphe, Mon Hotel sits on a quiet street off Paris's bustling boulevards. Designer Aurélia Santoni fashioned this intimate boutique property with eccentricity and flair; lampshades from Dutch design firm Moooi hang above Utrecht armchairs in the lobby. Above all, the style of the guestrooms and the service stress comfort - Mon feels like your personal Parisian pied-à-terre.

Even with its location in CityCenter, Vdara Hotel & Spa feels like an escape set apart from Vegas's typical over-the-top attitude. The 1,495-suite property is home to an 18,000-square-foot spa and salon with subdued but elegant interiors, and the suites have the comforts of home (kitchenette, dining area) without losing cachet (sweeping views of the Strip, mountains or the Bellagio fountain). And when you're ready to emerge for a night of dining, shopping and nightlife, CityCenter has it all.

A name like Lausanne Palace & Spa leaves little doubt about the level of comfort and pampering available at this venerable five-star hotel, the most centrally located of cosmopolitan Lausanne's luxury lodging options. Many of the Palace's 148 rooms have dreamy views of Lake Geneva; all are spacious and stylish, whatever their decor era. Deciding on one of the six in-house dining options - from haute Mediterranean cuisine to classic French brasserie fare - presents a diverting dilemma, and the hotel's excellent spa is a destination in its own right.
