Executives are compensated in part based on performance of AAPL in comparison to the S&P 500.

Another interesting detail from Apple's proxy statement filling =s that Tim Cook is now required to fly on private aircraft. This policy was implemented in 2017 and applies to Cook's business related and=20 personal travel. Apple's board of directors made the call and says =he policy is "in the interests of security and efficiency based on our=20 global profile and the highly visible nature of Mr. Cook's rol= as CEO."
