
From: jeffrey E. <jeevacation@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, December 28, 2017 12:03 AM
To: [REDACTED]

=span style="font-family: 'Times New Roman'">Why am I so lucky?

◆=A0 I would like to tell you why I am so lucky. First and foremost; I was born a healthy girl to = good family, where all members were both kind and well=educated. My family welcomed and surrounded me with love, kindness, and care. From the very first breath , up to now. In my opinion, it already foretold g=od luck. For instance, at the time, my country had an economic and food crisis. It had been almost on the brink of the civil war. Fertility in Russia in 90=h has declined for 80 %, and 50 % of newborn babes had been left in the hospi=als and special children homes . They were never able to see their parents and =eel their love. In such circumstances, I think that I was fortunate to be born and to have a loving family during su=h a hard time.

Second, I was a happy child and had a great childhood. My grandmother was severe , but fair. She left her job position and retired to take care of me, she devoted time to take ◆=A0me to different classes and educated me, while my mother was working abroad to support th= family and to provide us with everything we needed. Meanwhile, people in Ru=sia were starving; because of the food shortage and mass unemployment, we only =ad everything because of my mother's work and her fearlessness. I also sho=ld thank the universe and my genetics for my strong and long legs, as ,since my childhood, I ran fast= so I was raped, fucked in an ass or eaten by the jews in my neighborho=d.

The final reason that gives me the right to think that I am a very lucky person is my current circumstances and my w=y of life. There are a lot of different reasons , which give me the opportuni=y to say that I am lucky by being surrounded by only good people. People are nice to me, they recognize my so=l and are eager to share my way and to help me, or on the other hand if they =re not good people they do not bother me and do not stay around for the long term. Especially if the they give me and infection that I transmit =C2◆I think that 80 % of my personal happiness =nd luck is depends on the people who surround me . It is directly related to who you are and which li=e you will have. I believe that any relationship it is an exchange and what y=u give- you will get a finger in the butt included ,

In conclusion, I have am lucky . h=ving , good psychological and physical health, happy childhood, love, and the tenderness of important peo=le. It would be only right to be grateful. To have family and friends and being healthy is already enough to be called a lucky person. Ability to recognize the life as a present, to appreciate it and be grateful is one of the most important things which a lot of people do not do. Luck is an </=pan>ephemeral subject but believing in it gives us the power to be fearless and going through the life with the strong belief =o the happy ending .

--

conversation-id 21240 date-last-viewed 0 date-received 1514419407 flags 8590195713 gmail-label-ids 7 remote-id 781649