Hi Jeffrey,

The cutting of the "light Camel" cashmere has been delayed in transit over the Thanksgiving holiday.

To avoid delay I can have the vendor send out another direct to you. If so, please confirm the address for Thursday delivery. If you prefer not, I'll send it to you when its received at IJI.

Thank you.

Hi Jeffrey,

I anticipate having a cutting of the Loro Piana "light camel" colored cashmere at our showroom Monday/Tuesday. Once received I will send it out to you. This color will be a nice option to consider for the divan cushions, should you elect to recover.

Eric and I had a design call this morning and we both agree using the "light camel" cashmere on the entire divan with a leather welting would be very classy.

For the end arms, I would then use a combination of either cashmere and leather or cashmere and the Hermes fabric from the side walls.

I'm going to reference the Hermes sofa arm styling again (attached) because it's similar to yours and tastefully done. I would run the leather on the top and carry down to the inside of the arm for durability. Then cashmere or the Hermes fabric on the side wrapping around to the front of the arm.

We had a piece of the eucalyptus wood veneer in out design center library- likely not the same log, but likely close enough to give us a feel for the coloration and grain pattern.

Larry sent me the two pics of the G650 you/ Gulfstream referenced.

I am not sure how the blue carpet will look with the existing materials scheme now that you have switched course and elected the dark wood...

If you want to keep the boucle divan fabric, then you need a visually heavy material on the divan arm rests as the boucle is a very textured, nubby fabric.

Personally, id rather see you replace the divan fabric with the Loro Piana cashmere fabric with leather welting. The divan end arms can be reshaped as per your desire and upholstered in either the leather or a combination of the cashmere and leather.

Heading down to Maryland this am for Thanksgiving then I will be in Cayman Next week on vacation, but wanted to address this with you prior to waiting on your wood sample.

Eileen has reviewed the samples and ideas with me yesterday, so she is up to speed.

Best regards,

Eric
