Deborah proposes that Max responds within a week. The whole story is so disrespectful to Noam. Max should respond maximum in three days! (Unless one week is a legal requirement). It seems they are counting on time passing... a time that Noam should not have to keep waiting and getting upset and concerned about.

For numberless times I have urged Noam to forget about these funds, but he keeps telling me he wants to have access to it because it is his money, he worked for it and has the right to decide about it.
