Hi Jeffrey,

How are you?

I understand from Benny you want us to have a conversation with your fund manager.
Do you want to connect us via email or set it up in any other way?<=div>

Best, Jonathan

really appreciate your time earlier on the call,

Following our conversation allow me to try and elaborate some more =n the variety of possible strategies that are embedded inside this algorit=m-

For each instrument there is a 8x8 matrix- First ax represents the time frame in which the algo is sampling in =rder to get to the signal, and the second ax represents the sens=tivity of the strategy, where 8 is the most aggressive in terms of s.d

As requested attached is an excel with a sample trigger on the GBPJPY= which was generated on strategy 1 at a 1440 minute time frame (=andle).

As mentioned on the call, trigger 1 is the= most risk averse trigger in the system, and all the instruments are opera=ing only on trigger 1 in production for the past 2 years.

=/div>

Another piece of information is that a single trigger can have m=ltiple entries with one exit, exactly like in the GBPJPY =sample trade in which we had 4 entries with different prices and time stamp= with one exit for the entire net open position.

I hope I managed to better explain what we do and how the algorithm o=erates since 2016, and will be more than happy to share ou= entire 2017 deal flow with you if needed.
