Who have I let down??? Almost all of my old fund investors or choosing to hold on to positions versus cash. They believe in me and the positions otherwise they would have wanted out. What you are saying is simply manipulation and mean and not the facts. Second, the public fund is only one part of what I do. The rest is private. Go talk to tom, he thinks I walk on water

Your fund results are out for everyone to see. You have let a lot of people down and now you are attempting to add me to the list. yes it is not good but all of your own making . Tell the truth, and lets move on, stop accusing everyone except the person that bears the responsibility for the failures--you.
