
From: Mark LLOYD <[REDACTED]>
Sent: Tuesday, February 12, 2013 2:53 PM
To: jeevacation@gmail.com

Hi Jeffrey,

Sorry to miss you when I was in NY. Luckily I managed to fly south to Florida on Saturday morning and have been enjoying the sunshine state for the last few days.

I have had quite a few conversations with various yacht crew agencies I know about the position at Little St James. One query that has come up is the question of a US work visa=for a foreign national.

Is this an issue we need to be concerned about or could you handle this if the right person/s turned =p?

I am currently staying at the Windsor Club in Vero Beach (see www.windsorflorida.com) and have noted that most of the staff here are from South Africa. I enquired and they tell=me that an employment agency takes care of everything, visas included.

I will try and find out a little more today. South Africans have a great work ethic and are also friendly and respectful. Nothing worse than either staff who grovel or are over=familiar!!

Are you still OK for me and Lars to come by the Island on the 25th February for a few days, as I need=to sort out travel arrangements? Though no worries if it no longer works for you.

As ever,

Mark