Dear Jeffrey,

With some doubts and long researching and thinking I have almost decit=d to go for massage traanning in Paris. Thinking about the future, which i= always a big secret for me and probobly for many people , I felt having a=craft which will always be the opportunity for me to earn money.

It is one of the greatest Japanese facial techniques . Usually people =ame it as Kobido. But Kobido does not mean Japanese facial massage. Kobido is a compan= and lineage that offers Japanese facials and has set many facial treatmen= trends over the centuries. Kobido's primary focus is on facial treatments, but it actually includes other trea=ments that are not applied to the face (eg. Hand, Foot, Gemstone, and more=.

Kobido is the oldest a=d most technical form of facial available in Japan. It is built upon 48 An=ient Signature Techniques which focus on special percussion based treatmen=. These technique involves the bending and reshaping of the hands during application, some techniques may=even appear to be a stroke but there are still subtle changes to the shape=of the hand. One reasons why the Kobido signature techniques can be challe=ging to learn is that they are based off of competition level techniques from some of the greatest master= of the time. Therefore Kobido is a traditional art that takes years to ma=ter and cannot be learned in a short period.

Jeffrey, before a payed the bill I would like to ask You if your guests app=rtment in Paris would be available for me from February 16th to 22nd? it w=uld be a huge help if i could stay there at this period!

Your oppinion is always important for me!
