Jeffrey, besides being a plastic surgeon, I also do basic science research in breast cancer. My lab uses a novel approach that no one else in the world is doing. Our preliminary results are promising but we need funding to continue to the next phase.

Would you consider financially supporting us?

I hope I haven't offended you by being too direct. If I have, I apologize profusely.

But if this is something that interests you, my lab partner and I would love to tell you more about it. I promise you would find it intellectually stimulating and interesting.

Warmest regards,
