Hi,

I spend several hours this morning looking at the microarray data compa=ing the two "high score" tumor-derived to the low score normal-breast deri=ed wound fluid from the same patients we have identified. This is Saturday=night so I will not bored you with the details but I think we are up to s=omething.

We have a lot more to do to validate this but I feel very positive abou= it.

Have a good night

Doris
