Jeffrey, do you do Skype? Can I Skype you with a few others at 11AM =riday?

The short version is that it's a few guys that I know well. They are =iologists and computer scientists who are creating a new system for the =nternet look like an ecosystem and creates a competitive evolutionary =odel for people to write tiny bits of code that get strung into chains =o solve problems.

I think it's smart, might make money but might be a tool to really apply =iological and systems science to first the Internet and its services =ut also to financial markets and insurance. Might be a great tool for =ur toolbox.

They are trying to raise $900K to get started.
