No, I am not askin= you to accept a boat stereo and I remain steadfast in my desire to make y=u happy.

We presented options for a more =obust system that required additional power from the aircraft and required=a $20k plus converter. This system was about $115k.

When you presented car audio int= the equation, we designed a system that would sound great and perform eff=ciently given the aircraft and financial parameters.<=p>

At this point in our relationshi= I consider you a friend and since the goal at hand is to try and make you=happy, I humbly suggest that we work together on a solution rather than te=ting flippant remarks that do not provide any measureable insight to the s=und quality that you are really after.

In order to move forward, I am r=questing that you give us some time on Friday when you arrive. We are f=exible and can meet you as early and as long as you want in order to ident=fy and agree on a direction that will make you happy.=/p>

Your thoughts...?<=span>

you are asking me to accept a boat stereo. that has no quality whatsoever, and never was designed to have any.

No - you called me twice this morning and I wanted to take a bit of time to think my thoughts through before presenting them to you.

I am in the middle of writing you an e-mail regarding the entertainment system that I will send to you shortly, then we should talk.
