

---

From: [REDACTED] >
Sent: Tuesday, June 19, 2018 3:45 PM
To: jeevacation@gmail.com
Subject: Special request

Hello my dear friend,

As William Shakespeare said (The hardest battle in your life is when people push you to be another person ). I have always been a career oriented person and a goal achiever, but I also spent a lot of time finding my true self...and I am still on that journey trying to develop that side of me however now I do it with lots fun. I will never let anyone distract me or sway me away from that path.

As I told you, I am now finally back to my normal routines, fully passionate and focused on my [REDACTED] company hoping my baby can become financially independent, consequently giving me full financial security and stability eliminating the need to think of finding a job ever again.

A friend of mine believes in me and my capabilities. He thinks I never had the opportunity to be in the right position even though I've had access to the right circle of people. Further more he believes that I have an advantage being a female publisher, a rare phenomenon in the global [REDACTED] industry and non-existent in the region. Another advantage is my background in the Telecom industry, where I was ranked one of the top 50 strongest women in Middle East. According to my friend this gives me a competitive edge and makes his work easier.

This is why he is willing to arrange meetings with whomever is interested in the [REDACTED] business in the region. By the way recently Saudi and Emirati governments created [REDACTED]. I am targeting them.

This is why currently I am spending most of my time preparing all the documents to attract both governments and new investors that will help me build the biggest mobile game company in the region.

Which brings me to you my dear friend. I am seeking your advise from an investor's point of view. I would really appreciate if you humbly become my advisor helping me achieve my goals, I am sure, I will learn a lot from you. I know you don't usually give business advice for small sized company, it is probably not attractive and up to your level. However honestly you are the only person that I know from that caliber that already was humble enough to listen to me, open up to me and support me considering your busy and hectic schedule.

I am approaching you personally and asking of you such a task because I know you religiously value friendships. I also believe I am one of your good loyal friends.

I will be grateful, if you accept this challenge and advise a very small business owner with 0.1% [REDACTED] genes. I will gladly fly to you and share all the documents that I am producing for my future investors.

If you don't have the time and you don't like the idea, please ignore the email, I am very understanding and will act as if this email was never written and sent to you, as agreed I will visit in minimum two months :-)

I appreciate the time you took out of your busy schedule to read this length request.

Regards,

A 2D grayscale heatmap showing a complex, multi-peaked distribution. The distribution is highly concentrated in the center, with several smaller peaks branching off to the left and right. The background is white, and the data is represented by varying shades of gray.