Jeffrey,

Last week, one of our supporters (now with his own fund, Bronson Point, and previously "Senior=Portfolio Manager" at S.A.C.) hosted a reception for us at his home in =airfield. 30+ people attended with a goal of raising funds to =nderwrite a new staff position. In attendance were a number of private =quity, hedge fund executives and VC investors including some you may =now. SAC could not attend though he asked for additional materials =bout our work. Over the weeks ahead, we'll see how successful =ollowup outreach to him and others in this group might =e.

Two weeks ago, I spoke at the UMass =isaster Response Conference to an exceptional group of delegates from =lobal disaster relief organizations — most of whom we've worked =ide-by-side with over the past decade. They all await our training =hich we are currently offering. Our reputation is solid and we are =ighly regarded in this field.

We have now =ngaged three PhDs (one a neuroscientist) with whom we are devising a =esearch methodology to authenticate our protocols which we believe can =itigate and prevent PTSD in children following natural disasters. We =ust hire two more staff members for which we need funding as well as =nderwriting the actual cost of research at either Johns Hopkins or =nother university graduate department.

Though =e are behind in our fundraising efforts to date, I remain hopeful that =ou and your foundation will consider my request for support. I look =oward to a phone call or visit when possible — I am in my office all =ay today and tomorrow and will be in NYC next Tuesday and Wednesday for =osh's 30th birthday.

Warm =egards,

Bill
