<=ont face="HelveticaNeue-Light">These are external antennas for a spe=ific AT&T broadband card. They would be useful for fixed locations whe=e:

* there was satura=ion of AT&T signal outside but poor signal penetration inside (ie 71st=St), and
* you had no terrestrial internet connection options (cable interne= or FIOS will always be faster and better), and
* only needed to get one com=uter connected (does not work with iPhones, iPads, · tv, etc.)
