I never understood why we cannot communicate like normal =people do and why I cannot talk to you on the phone. I would have really ap=recciated to send you my list expenses if in return I had feedbacks of you =nd we could discuss on a regular basis (not only about my statement and m=ney) but about other things in life so that I could learn and grow as a p=rson. Unfortunately this was not the case since there was zero communicati=n from your side (even when I was sending you my statement) I had no idea =f what I was doing was right or wrong. I tried to be careful. The fact of =ot hearing from you and having to send you just my statement would make me=really upset because as I told you yesterday I felt it was the only tie th=t was left between us since you new nothing about me and again my emotions=took control over everything else.
