That i= great. Thank you. My first step is to get accepted. I will start preparin= for the application. They require somewhat solid programing experience.

However, I might not be accepted because I'm not elig=ble to work officially. As I understand "hackreactor" (organiz=on that provides programming class) wants their students to find jobs righ= after because the companies pay "hackreactor" some fees. I will=have to tell them that I'm intersted in a job, so hopefully that will =ork.

I will update you when I know if I'm accepted =r not. Thank you again.

[REDACTED] I'll be traveling alone (I'm attending national bridge =ournament in Providence).

Regarding the project: it is =urrently on hold because my husband got full time job to pay the bills. He=is not motivated enough to work after his work. I've been learning som= programming on my own but the process is too slow. I was thinking to take=an immersive programming class ((<http://www.hackreactor.com/> <<http://www.hackreactor.com/>>)) but I c=n't afford it now. So, the project is not moving but I'm not givin= up and will make it happen. I think, if I get better at programming I can=motivate my husband to to work with me.

We could talk more about the project and figure out if and how you can h=lp.

If those days good, I wi=l go ahead and by plane tickets. I will not need the car, I will take a tr=ain.

Thank you for your willingness to help. I app=eciate it.
