Ha, that made me smile.. Why d= you think I'm expecting new challenging experiences in my apt? <=div>

Yes I love new challenges and surrounding my=elf with smart, eccentric people with big ideas, in both my personal and p=ofessional life. Coincidentally, one of those just called and asked me to =ork for his company here in ny. He is building solar-powered perpetual fli=ht drones and airplanes to provide internet in remote areas, also invented=a new way to make composite materials and is building some crazy flying th=ngs for [REDACTED] I could be the chief pilot on his jet and a test pilot for =he experimental toys. I just visited the company and deciding if I should =o it. The test flying is no joke...certainly a tempting challenge and lear=ing opportunity compared to 'driving a bus' for a discount airline= but risky. :) I also can't leave the country so if I wanted to try th= airline world, it would need be here instead of Europe. There is a new pi=ot shortage so they are all going to have issues finding enough qualified =ilots soon...at least until pilots are no longer needed at all.

PS: Did you think the last video I sent was fake?
