If budget not important then I would recommend The IPT, "IMAX Private Theatre". This will fit your space and represents the finest of home theatre experience. It's about $2.5M for equipment, install, and remote quality of service monitoring. Room make out and acoustical treatment on top of that. This was why I want to confirm what your comfort level is for a home theatre. Let me know.

Cheers. Brian

Hi Jeffrey, you have a good room to work with. The starting question is what sort of budget are you working with and what you see it including. Are you having the room acoustically treated and dimensions modified to optimize sound reproduction? This will help with some initial suggestions
