Dear Dr. Krauss,

I'm=a reporter with Science in Washington, D.C.

I'm=in possession of the document with ASU's determination that you =iolated ASU's code of conduct in grabbing a woman's =east at a conference in November, 2016 in Australia. I have also =nterviewed a witness to this incident, Melanie Thomson, at some length =nd will be calling ASU momentarily to ask about the action it is taking =s a result of these findings.

I am very much hoping to get your =omment for my article which will post as soon as this evening eastern =ime.

The =uestions I would like to ask are:

What is your response to this finding? =s it fair? Is it true? Why/Why not?

What is right or wrong in the process =f this second investigation of you by ASU?

Has ASU =aken any official actions against you in recent days, e.g. to terminate =our employment, end your administrative leave, require sexual =arassment training or anything else that one would typically expect in =his kind of situation?

Melanie Thomson who says she witnessed the breast-grabbing =ncident in November 2016 is asking for a public apology from you and =hat you be required to go to sensitivity training/counselling. How do =ou respond?

What do you want to add that is not in your 9-page statement =osted after the BuzzFeed article was published in March?

What else =o you want me to know?

I'm available by email, or at both numbers =elow. I would welcome the chance to speak with you. I will = available until 6 pm Eastern time today.

Sincerely,

Meredith Wadman, BM, BCh

Dear Dr. Krauss,

I'm=working on deadline on a brief (150-word) item for our next print =ssue. It will note ASU's placing you on paid =dministrative leave earlier this week, and your resignation from the =ulletin of Atomic Scientists' board.

I would =ery much like to quote your reaction to ASU's action, and if =ou would send that by email or give me a call in that regard I would be =rateful.

I would also appreciate:

1. A copy of your =esignation letter to the Bulletin's Board
2. A copy =irectly from you of your statement responding to the BuzzFeed article, =nd your confirmation of what date that statement was released.

If you =an get back to me today, I would be grateful. I apologize for the short =otice. If that's not possible, can you respond over the =eekend or at latest by 10 am Eastern time on Monday?

Thanks =or considering these requests.

Sincerely,

Meredith
