I will be in Boca in September for the Jewish holidays. It would be a good time to have a face to face as I think you may be very impressed. I know Perry wanted us to connect because you are difficult to impress but there is a colleague of mine who is truly the Albert Einstein of science and medicine that will hopefully be with us in September. Regarding your PTH/calcium, I was able to find one study where mast cell activation=syndrome can present like this. My concern is that you likely have this diagnosis which is treatable but requires more extensive labs as I mentioned in my report.

Happy to help further
