yes.. I don't want to hear I told you so.. we =eft it there because there was no rush for it, we didn't know =ow to effectively move it, and the rest of my savings was in equities =nd such funds so it seemed ok to have some fixed 3-4% interest money =ust sitting there.

they don't do checks in Aus.. I don't think =he even has a checkbook for that acct.. and in my experience, the =anks charge some significant fee for depositing a foreign check, which =hey send out for collection, usually taking several weeks at =east.

we have been working on appeal doc this week, and will over the next week.. with some good additional bits of stuff (email from other woman at lunch with Lucy saying it was a friendly lunch with no discussion of =obs ever.. etc). Anyway, that is not what I am emailing about. We haven't thus far taken the plunge of moving the $500K or so that Nancy has in Australia to the US.. for a number of reasons.. also hope that it might rise.. but also we simply don't know =urrency traders, and if we just ask to move it we will undoubtedly lose a lot of money on banks charging fees and giving lousy rate compared to the going rate for the currency. Since you do this for a living, could you assist us in moving it to US dollars sometime in the next month or two.. either tell us how to do it and who to go through to do it, or otherwise?

Thanks.

Lawrence
